Kaupapa

- We are at the stage where we need to begin developing a new process for monitoring, review, and moderation of Kaupapa Māori/Māori Medium ITE programmes.
- Before we get this work underway, we'd like to hear from you about what you need from a new process.
- We expect this work will take at least 12 months to complete (based on the timeframe for this work with English Medium ITE programmes).

What is monitoring, review, and moderation?

- Processes that help us (Teaching Council) understand whether individual ITE programmes are operating as approved.
- An opportunity to provide additional support if needed.
- These processes can also give us insights into any themes or trends that might be emerging across the sector.

- Monitoring – a continuous or periodic process that allows for regular collection of information
- Review – quality assurance at one point in time
- Moderation – an opportunity to collectively discuss and consider national consistency of assessment (could also include a focus on different themes).

Breakout 1 – group discussion

Current processes – what works/what could be improved or changed?

Your report-back – what is essential for the Council to know to help inform thinking about the new MRM approach

Report back

- One comment from each group – and if time we'll do another round.

Breakout 2 – group discussion

- What would be helpful for you to know/understand about your programmes?
- What would be helpful to understand about how KM/MM programmes are working across this sector?
- How do we make sure monitoring, review, and moderation processes are robust but not burdensome (cost, time, resources)?

Report back

- One comment from each group – and if time we'll do another round.

Next steps

- We need to establish a working group to assist the Council in developing an approach to MRM for Kaupapa Māori/Māori medium programmes.
- You may wish to consider nominees for this group.
- We'll also develop a project plan and timelines which will include when/how we update you on progress.
